Where No One is an Island

Kindness Calls Telephone Befriending Service

What Is It?

This is our telephone befriending service, where one of our team of trained kindness callers will call to have a warm, friendly chat and check in that you're doing OK. It's a great way to feel connected to, and part of, our community.

How Do I Sign Up For This?

You can sign up for this yourself by completing the registration form on the back of this sheet, and by posting it back to us at the address provided (or by emailing it), whichever's easier.

Alternatively, someone else, like a family member, friend or a health professional, such as a GP or social worker can complete the registration on your behalf, as long as you give them permission to do so and that you have signed the form yourself.

Islanders! Kindness Calls Registration Form

All sections below need to be completed and we require either the signature of the person registering for the service or, if you're making a referral on their behalf, your signature confirming that permission has been granted by them.

Email Address (Just if you have one)

Is there a diagnosis of dementia? YES NO

Please note we are not able to offer kindness calls to those with a dementia diagnosis as this could cause unnecessary stress and anxiety to the person receiving the calls.

Are there any other memory, hearing or speech issues? YES NO

If so, can you provide a little more detail on these?

I give permission for my personal details to be stored and processed by Volunteering Hebrides for the duration of my involvement with Volunteering Hebrides.

YES
